Forbes Magazine

By Forbes Wealth Studies Department (2002)

I. Statistics and Modelling of Wealth Analysis

Study wealth samples – like wealth ideas or truly wealthy insights into life.

II. Model the Samples as High or Low

Examples – beer, and chips with a television to watch fun cinema for the night – is this a wealthy idea or a cheap middle class idea.

It is wealthy if it has an insight – like this is a fun show because it has Jennifer Aniston acting with Brad Pitt. That is wealthy, watching it anyway and not noticing this is not.

Modelling Ferrari –

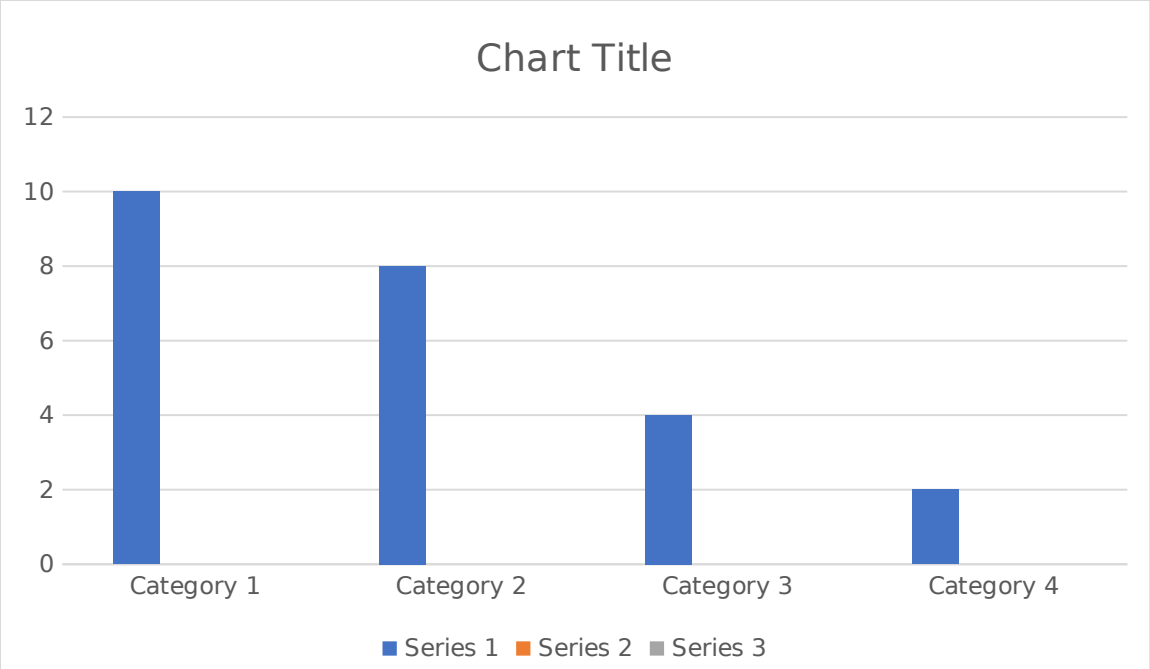
He has many insights and is rich.

It models to full wealth lifestyle.

He loses recently because Mark Zuckerberg made it.

But actually because he lost these insights. Earlier wineries, nowadays in normal housing, he needs an architect.

III. Published Edit of Models



Category 1 is about High Company Models

Category 2 is about wealthiest life insights like wineries and living it actually or potentially and actually.

That was Earlier and now again Ferrari

Category 3 is about lower company models by Ferrari cars say.

Category 4 is about housing as only idea.